

When do I take my supplements?

Once you know which ones to take then knowing when its best to take them can be tricky, especially as the average perimenopausal woman can suddenly find herself taking up to 8-10 a day!

Here are some tips for taking supplements:

1. Always take with food unless it says otherwise. This is the best way to get optimum nutrient absorption as they are digested and utilised
2. You can split them over the day, they don't have to be taken in the morning, some people find them better at lunchtime
3. Magnesium and Ashwaganda can be taken in the evening as they help you sleep
4. Multivitamins, and additional vitamins like C and D you can take earlier so you benefit during the day from the energy that they give you
5. Oils like fishy ones may make you queasy so take with food. This goes for magnesium too until you're sure it doesn't give you a runny tummy. Switch to a vegan omega 3 oil (made from algae) and it's a purer source.
6. A probiotic is usually taken first thing in the day on an empty stomach, without a hot drink (Which can kill the bacteria) Here's the best one for women up until perimenopause (especially if heavy periods), and you get 10% off with this discount code: MBZCM10 If you're closer to menopause/ or have heat symptoms then take this one: <https://microbz.co.uk/product/bio-live-liver/ref/andrea.marsh/>
7. Supplements in oils are the best ones for absorption. Then one's in capsules. Chalky white ones that have the first ingredient of Calcium carbonate are ones that have been bulked out, they are usually larger and have no additional benefit.
8. Take them for a minimum of 3 months, but it can be 6 months to 2 years depending on your severity of symptoms (specifically Adrenal Fatigue). This is just an estimate, everyone is individual, listen to your body.
9. Source companies that have a good ethic behind their supplements , for example Cytoplan - supplements are plant based allowing more absorption – click on image below, and use code CYT122819-35-10 for 35% off your first order, and 10% for all subsequent orders (only apply once)

Supplement Starter Guide

Supplements are a mine field , where do you start if you don't have a clue?

I've put together all the starter supplements in one place, these will start relieving a swathe of symptoms plus build your energy back up and help your sleep, aches and ailments. I've spent 2 years finding a company that has enough of these good supplements in one place. Sourced from plants if the supplement states its Bioavailable or Wholefood it means you will absorb more of the nutrients.

It's taken me a few years to settle on Cytoplan, but they do a very good range, plant based and ethical. Use code CYT122819-35-10 just the once on your account, for 35% off your first order and 10% all subsequent orders.

Multi vitamin - women's health multi vitamin for the menopause transition, you need all these microminerals to support all of your health. It is also high in vitamin B complex for energy and hormone health balance. The excess cortisol that you have from stress whether caused by life or hormonal change
